- New Jersey. The New Jersey return contains a 2D barcode, a scannable representation of the tax return data. The barcode is generated during the calculation phase based on the results of the return. Therefore, any handwritten additions, deletions, or revisions made to the return will not be reflected within the 2D barcode and, consequently, for filing purposes. If changes to the return are necessary, they should be made through the software, and the return recalculated so that the 2D barcode is a complete and accurate representation of the tax return data. In addition, the return containing the 2D barcode should be submitted in the form order provided by the software, as an incorrect collation may hinder the processing of the tax return. Forms watermarked "Do Not File" should not be filed, as the printed versions, including the 2D barcode, have not been approved by the taxing authority. (31116)
